Study objective:

We are searching for volunteers for an scientific ibogaine project in which the aim is to design a psychological questionnaire to assess the acute subjective effects of ibogaine and iboga root bark and extracts.

Since Ibogaine's subjective effects are very different from tryptamine such as psilocybin or N,N-Dimethyltryptamine the measures available to assess subjective effects are not very suitable for this oneirogen.

Participants:

We need around 10 participants who took ibogaine, iboga root bark or extract in the last 30 days and 10 participants who had an experience at some point in their life time and are experts in the field of ibogaine (meaning practitioners, scientists, etc.).

Study Procedures:

You will be interviewed about your last ibogaine experience by one of our researchers via Skype which takes more or less 1 hour and 30 minutes.

Compensation:

We cannot reimburse you for your participation since this initiative has no funding, but through just one or two hours of your time you do an important contribution to the advancement of our understanding of the iboga-experience and its role in personal growth and therapeutic substance.

Thank you very much!

Every Participant is highly appreciated!
